ARMY OFFICERS IN JAMAICA GYMKHANA

Sky Meeting of the Garrison Club at Kingston Draws a Fashionable Audience.

TEA SERVED TO THE GUESTS

Prizes Are Distributed to the Winners by Mrs. Caulfield, Wife of Brigadier General Caulfield.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE HERALD.]
KINGSTON, Jamaica, March 15, 1906.—At the invitation of the officer commanding a large crowd assembled at Up Park camp yesterday afternoon to witness the sky meeting of the Garrison Gymkhana Club. The ground was filled with fashionably dressed women, while spectators of the other sex gathered in groups on the green.

Tea was served in a large tent adjacent to the grand stand, and the officers and members of the club saw to it that every one had a refreshing cup of tea or iced coffee. There were six entries for the first race, Mr. Price, Major Hutton, Captain Watkins, Mr. Sedgwick, Mr. Hill and Major Barclay riding their own ponies. Mr. Price's Steiner won in this event and Major Hutton's Cynball was second.

In the second race the winners were captured by Captain Lawrence's Strapnel. Major Hutton's Koh-nor was second across the line. The prize entries for this race were ponies belonging to Mr. Goldney, Mr. Grant, Mr. Nicholson, Major Barclay, Mr. Buchanan and Mr. Rowe.

The Camp Handicap, second class, proved an exciting event, and the winning ride, ridden and owned by Mr. Latham, caused something of a sensation, partly on account of the way in which the British distanced her competitors, and partly on account of the fact that Mr. Latham raced yesterday for the first time in Jamaica.

Other horses entered for this handicap were those owned by Mr. Price, Major Hutton, Mr. Nicholson, Mr. Buchanan, Mr. Porton, Captain French, Mr. Hill and Captain Hingley.

SMILING WITH A GOOD REASON.
The fourth race, the Camp Handicap, first class, was won by Mr. Price's Smiler, this making the second victory in the day's sports for Smiler.

The two races, with nine entries, was watched with much interest. Major Barclay's Aristocrat captured the stakes, closely followed by Mr. Sedgwick's Smiler.

The last event of the afternoon was the Port Royal Stakes, distance handicap, in which there were four entries, including ponies belonging to Mr. Fraser, Captain Lawrence, Mr. Price, Mr. Latham, Mr. Goldney, Major Barclay, Major Hutton, Mr. Marks and Mr. Grant. Mr. Latham's Geisha again won with Mr. Goldney's Blue Bell second.

At the close of the races prizes were distributed to the winners by Mrs. Caulfield, wife of the Brigadier General. As the last evening of the sports, Mr. Hill proposed three cheers for Mrs. Caulfield, and the camp rang with the hearty response. Then the Standard band, the latest band, obtained through the courtesy of Lieutenant Colonel Lovehead and the officers of the regiment, played "The King" as a signal that the quarterly sky meeting had come to an end.

OFFICERS OF THE CLUB.
The officers of the Garrison Gymkhana Club are: Brigadier General W. H. Caulfield, president; Colonel A. L. Bayley, vice president; Committee, Lieutenant Colonel Lovehead, Major Hutton, Major Gillespie, Captain Lawrence, Captain Bliss and Lieutenant Hill.

Prizes for the most effective costume were awarded to Miss L. Cocking, as a Spanish lady, and Captain French as a torreador.

"KNESELS" GIVE KEEN RACQUETS

Brooke and Cassatt, Philadelphia, Defeat Houghton and Shaw, Boston, in First Round.

MR. REISENAUER IS SOLOIST

Beethoven Quartet, Now Seldom Heard and Played in Fine Style, Is One of the Programme's Features.

There was a programme of uncommon importance and playing of a high order to mark the Kniesel Quartet's fifth chamber music concert, in Mendelssohn Hall, last night, as perhaps the most interesting of the present series.

The usual brilliant audience which crowded the room waxed very enthusiastic over the work of Mr. Kniesel and his associates and that of Mr. Alfred Reisenauer, the assisting artist, indeed, did Kniesel usage permit such things as endures there would have been a round half dozen repetitions.

The programme consisted of Beethoven's massive quartet in B flat major, opus 130, which is seldom heard; Schumann's popular quintet for piano and strings; a movement from Schubert's G major quartet and one from a new quartet by Mr. Fred A. Stock, of Chicago, a work still in manuscript.

The playing of the Beethoven work proved a real artistic benefit. Such vigor, elegance and, without, such perfect unanimity even the "Kniesels" have not excelled recently. Each of the six widely contrasted movements was delightfully played. To Schubert's "Trout" which headed the list, was admirably also, if scarcely so distinguished a piece of playing as Stock's composition was heartily applauded.

Mr. Reisenauer's excellent qualities as a chamber music player, contributed to a well balanced and striking performance of the Schumann quintet.

Two trios, Beethoven's opus 1, No. 3, and Arensky's opus 22, with a movement from Myrskowski's violin concerto as a solo for Mr. Sasulsky, made up an interesting list of instrumental music which was as judiciously planned as Miss Stevens' four modern songs, used with taste a voice of pretty quality and good schooling.

KEEN RACQUETS

Brooke and Cassatt, Philadelphia, Defeat Houghton and Shaw, Boston, in First Round.

TAKE FOUR GAMES TO TWO

Fearing and Scott, Boston, and Waterbury and Sands, New York, Win Matches in Straight Series.

There were no defaults in the three matches scheduled yesterday in the first round for the national racquet doubles championship at the Racquet and Tennis Club, all the aspiring pairs fulfilling their engagements. To obviate any possibility of a clash with the two Boston couples, before the final, George R. Fearing and D. Scott, the holders of the title, were moved to the upper hall, while Percy Houghton, the singles champion, and Quincy A. Shaw, Jr., a former champion, both being from Boston, remained in the lower division.

The change, however, was unnecessary, as the last named pair were dismissed by George H. Brooke and Robert K. Cassatt, of Philadelphia, champions of 1903, after the Bostonians had won the first two games. This was unquestionably the struggle of the day, as Messrs. Fearing and Scott met with but weak opposition from the brothers Huntington, of New York, while Messrs. Lawrence Waterbury and Charles E. Sands, of New York, always had the upper hand of the Philadelphians, Messrs. Warburton and Bates.

The first game between Messrs. Houghton and Shaw and Messrs. Brooke and Cassatt was a close one, but the latter won it by a score of 12 to 10. After set 13 had been called Quincy Shaw ran three aces on his opponent's messes, and then the Philadelphians put each other out, by the score of 12 to 10. Shaw again, who ran the necessary two aces by service.

During this contest Cassatt proved that he was remarkably strong on back hand strokes and his takes from the wall on back hand full volleys elicited rounds of applause. Were he as brilliant on forehand strokes it was admitted he would rank among the very best amateurs seen anywhere.

BROOKE'S EFFECTIVE CUT SERVICE.
Brooke throughout the series had an effective cut service, while he displayed more than average ability in placing and much activity in "gets." The Philadelphians proved to be in the pink of condition, while their combination and team play was striking in comparison with that of their opponents.

The first two games took all the steam out of the players, and did not begin the second until the last game, when the partner, who had borne the brunt of the battle in the third, fourth and fifth games, held out signals of distress.

After losing the first two games, the Philadelphians turned the tables in a most unexpected manner and won a lone game in two hands. In the next, or fourth, game the Bostonians were almost as helpless as in the first, and called for help. In the sixth and last game Shaw recovered his form, and the game was called 6 love in his and his partner's favor. The Philadelphians ran out with a successful eighth ace and won the match.
